LATEST LINKED WIDGET

Latest linked Widget displays a list of the newest blog posts posts that has linked to a site or a part of a site. For the widget to display links that links to a specific part of a site, the URL pattern must be consistent so that the particular subpart of the site is recognizable from the URL alone.

In the blog mode the widget comes in two flavours; it can be centred around the article as in the upper picture, or it can be centred around the blog posts as in the lower picture.

INTEGRATION

To integrate the Latest linked Widget into a page the basic setup explained in Basic setup for all widgets should be performed.

The following html snippet should be placed in your html page where you would like the widget to appear:

```

    Twingly Blogsearch

```

The widget will fill up the width it is given in the page. A common way to limit its width is to put the widget into a div that has a specified width:

```

      Twingly Blogsearch

```

CONFIGURATION

The configuration of the Latest linked widget is easy and typically one or two variables need to be set.

- `tw_latestbloggedUrl` - (string) The URL for which to retrieve latest blogged data.

var tw_latestbloggedUrl = "http://www.twingly.com/";
```

- `tw_latestbloggedSection` - (string) Section name that indicates what section of a site the latest blogged data should be for. Twingly will provide such a name if one is needed.

var tw_latestbloggedSection = "Posts";
```

- `tw_highlightLinkedPage` - (boolean) Indicates to the widget which view to use for representing the Latest blogged widget. If set to true, the view shown in the first picture above will be used, otherwise the second view will be used.

var tw_highlightLinkedPage = true;
```

For your reference, the HTML for a complete page is included below:

```
<!DOCTYPE HTML PUBLIC "-//W3C//DTD HTML 4.01//EN"
"http://www.w3.org/TR/html4/strict.dtd">
<html>
  <head>
    <meta http-equiv="Content-Type" content="text/html;
      charset=utf-8" />
    <title>Latest Blogged Widget Example</title>

    <script type="text/javascript">
      //Tell the widget for which site the latest blogged //list is.
      var tw_latestbloggedUrl = "http://www.twingly.com/";
    </script>
  </head>
  <body>

    <!-- Put a div with id set to tw_latestblogged_widget where you want the widget to appear. The widget will fill out the space given to it. Here, the outer div will make the widget become 300px wide. -->

          Twingly Blogsearch

    <!-- Include the javascript file needed for the widget
    in the lower part of your BODY tag --> <script type="text/javascript"
      src="http://eu.widgetdata.twingly.com/scripts/widget/twingly.widget.2.0.1.pack.js">
    </script>
  </body>
</html>
```

The code above will render a widget that looks like this:
